ONE DAY NATIONAL SEMINAR

“INSURANCE FOR ALL BY 2047”

SEP 5 2023
STUDENTS' CENTRE

Dear Sir/Madam,

Department of Actuarial science in association with Ernakulam Insurance Institute is organising a one day national seminar on the topic "INSURANCE FOR ALL BY 2047" on 5 SEP 2023. You are cordially invited to participate in the deliberations of the seminar.

Dr. Shalini Binu
Head of the Department

Dr. Manju Kurian
Principal

ABOUT THE TOPIC

Insurance penetration in India is relatively low compared to developed economies. Insurance awareness and penetration are gradually increasing in the country due to various government initiatives, digital advancements, and growing awareness about the importance of insurance. The Insurance Regulatory Development Authority of India (IRDAI) initiative of "Insurance for All by 2047" is a step forward to enhance financial inclusion and provide a safety net for individuals and families, contributing to the overall economic stability and well-being of the country.

This seminar aims to deepen participants' understanding of insurance policies, explore innovative solutions, and ignite a transformative movement towards universal insurance accessibility by 2047.

ABOUT THE COLLEGE AND DEPARTMENT

WORKSHOP ON VEDIC MATHEMATICS

Vedic Mathematics is the name given to the ancient system of Indian Mathematics to solve mathematics calculations based on a collection of sutras. The simplicity of Vedic Mathematics is that calculations can be carried out mentally. In the Vedic system 'difficult' problems or huge sums can often be solved immediately by the Vedic method. These striking and beautiful methods are just a part of a complete system of mathematics which is far more systematic than the modern 'system'. Vedic Mathematics manifests the coherent and unified structure of mathematics and the methods are complementary, direct and easy.
